The class, with Walter Bunnell as the instructor, is scheduled for Wednesday evenings, 7 to 10 at the Albany High School building. The course covers instruction both in color and in black and white; and, in addition to an overall knowledge of photography, it stresses content in a picture rather than mere technique, subjects for pictures and where to find them, and how to put pictures on the film. — Bunnell Photo

Proclamation

"We in the great State of California are indebted to those among us who keep alive for us, as well as generations yet unborn, the history of the Golden State. The passage of each year makes it even more important to pay homage to the past.

We are thankful for the work of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, founded September 25, 1886, in Jackson, California. One of its major projects is preservation of California historical landmarks. A current project is the restoration of the Mission, "Our Lady of Soledad."

Another great service is performed by the Native Daughters of the Golden West. Through its Childrens Foundation it helps children in need of operations, braces, dental care, eyeglasses and hearing aids.

It is with pleasure that I, Edmund G. Brown, Governor of California, do hereby designate September 25, 1959 as Founders Day of the Native Daughters of the Golden West.

I urge all Californians to acquaint themselves with the work of our State's oldest of patriotic organizations for women.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great Seal of State of California to be affixed this 28th day of August, A.D. 1959.

Reception to Honor Albany American Field Service Students on Saturday

A reception honoring Renee DeYoe, Albany High's American Field Service summer student; Miss DeVore Watt, Albany High librarian, who has just returned from a year's tour abroad; and Birger Hansen, Albany High's foreign exchange student from Denmark, will be held from 3 to 5 p.m., Saturday, October 3, in the Cornell School cafeteria, 919 Cornell Avenue, Albany. The event, which is under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Collins, Special Meetings chairman for the Albany AFS Committee, has been planned to give interested people in the community an opportunity to meet Miss Watt, the two students, and their families, the Duane DeYoes of 1310 Marin Avenue, and Birger's "American" family, the Edmund J. Whites of 1222 Marin Avenue.

Special invitations to the affair have been sent to all Albany High Junior Class members and their parents, so that they may take advantage of the opportunity to meet the two student participants and ask questions about the AFS "Americans Abroad" project. To be eligible for the AFS, students must be Juniors; 16 years of age by June 30, 1960; have studied Latin or a foreign language for two years by June 1960; and be U.S. citizens in excellent health with good academic records.

There are two parts to the AFS "Americans Abroad" program. The Summer Program in which American teenagers represent their schools, communities and the United States, while living with foreign families for six to seven weeks during July and August. In becoming a member of these families and sharing in their daily life, the American students have the opportunity to learn about the life and people of another country, and to build understanding between the peoples of the world.

In the School Program, the responsibilities of the students participating are essentially the same as in the Summer Program. These students, however, have the additional opportunity of entering into the school life of their host countries. The length of this program is approximately five months.

ALL THIS FOR A PENNY?

Used to be, a fellow could buy all sorts of things for a penny. Toys. Candy. Apples. Then came inflation, and the price of everything went up, up, up.

Everything, that is, except the price of your "East Bay MUD" water. That went down, down, down. Take the last 30 years. Price of most things doubled during that period. Put another way, it means that your penny now buys 50% less of everything than it did in 1929. But (ahem!) when it comes to "East Bay MUD" water, your penny now buys 20% more than it did 30 years ago!

How much water will a penny buy today? Well, it'll buy a glass a day every day for a year. Which, in terms of dollars, means you enjoy the lowest water rates in the Bay Area. So go ahead, Sonny, spend your penny on a bargain. Think you can drink 365 glasses of pure mountain water?

Another bargain: free booklets about water. Write 2130 Adeline Street, Oakland 23.

Olson Tour Party Flies Across English Channel; Visits Holland, W. Germany

(Editor's Note: In last week's article by Mrs. May Ellis Olson she told of touring England, and the many interesting and historic sights in London. In this, the second instalment, Mrs. Olson tells of their flight across the channel to Amsterdam and their sight-seeing tours in Holland, Belgium and West Germany.)

By MAY ELLIS OLSON

We left England by plane and, one hour later, arrived in Holland. Everything seemed so neat and orderly. Hundreds of bicycles were on the streets, the main type of transportation.

Our hotel in Amsterdam was in Rembrandt Square. The statue of the artist, in the center of the park-like square, is surrounded by blooming tulips and azaleas. A side-walk cafe outside each hotel served beer and other liquids. There are numerous canals running through the city which are used for transportation. Much of the city of 800,000 people has been reclaimed from the sea. Drove through Amsterdam to Volendam, passing many people in wooden shoes. Nearly every home had bedding hanging from the windows to air.

We went by boat across the Zuyder Zee to Marken Island, where native dress is worn entirely. Then, back to Amsterdam after a tour of the canals.

Food was wonderful in Holland: boiled eggs, cheese, sliced meat, fish, bread and coffee for breakfast! Fortified by such a breakfast, we set out for the Hague, capital of Holland. We passed the luxurious homes of some of the Dutch diamond merchants. Here again were many side-walk cafes. Also, everyone on a bicycle; mothers with several children in baskets over the handle-bars and seats. There are 11,000,000 people in Holland and five and one-half million bicycles.

We traveled through Rotterdam, rebuilt almost entirely since the war, and crossed the Belgian border. A mixture of Flemish and French is spoken here. Upon entering Brussels, we found last year's exposition almost entirely torn down. Still standing is the Atom Monument which will remain for ten years. Nearly all the buildings are old, with extremely ornate fronts and stepped-up roof fronts of the typical Flemish design. Most of the street signs are in both French and Flemish. Wine grapes are grown here, all in glass houses.

We passed many American Military Cemeteries on our way into Leige, the Walloon or French part of the country. Leige has very narrow streets and interesting shops, such as several coffin shops, with the wares displayed in the windows.

We entered Germany, a most beautiful and industrious country. Our first stop was Cologne, the largest city on the Rhine, over 2000 years old; over-shaded by the Dom, or cathedral, built in 1248. There was some evidence of bomb damage in the city, but many damaged buildings and whole city blocks have been restored.

The following day we stopped for a while at Bonn. This city dates back to Roman times. It is the home of Adenauer, but its most famous citizen was Ludwig von Beethoven. All the street crossing signs are in picture silhouette: a man with a child by the hand means "Children Crossing"; a man with a shovel, "Men at Work"; an auto tipped sideways, "Rough Road".

MRS. MAY ELLIS OLSON AND HAROLD W. OLSON near the Old Toll Gate in Freiburg, West Germany, where they visited enroute to Switzerland.

SCENE ON THE CAMPUS of the old and famous University of Heidelberg, West Germany. May and Harold Olson are in the picture.

Had lunch at Koblenz, where we boarded a steamer for a trip down the beautiful Rhine River. The river is a gently flowing ribbon of water with hills flanking both sides. Some of them are 700 to 1200 feet high, many completely covered with terraces where grape-raising for wines of the Rhine is a big industry. Here, we saw numerous German boys in leather shorts, the dress of the mountaineer.

On a small island, near the center of the Rhine, is the Castle, Dier Pfalz, with turrets and small dormer windows. It is so old, the year it was built has been lost. For many years, it was the home of a Catholic order of nuns, but now stands empty, a beautiful relic of the past. The banks of the Rhine are dotted with castles and palaces, some in ruins and others still standing. Many villages and towns stretch along the shores.

FLEGEL — In a local hospital, August 23, 1939, Paul Stephens Flegel of 917 Carmel Avenue, Albany, beloved husband of Alice May Flegel of Albany, loving father of Paul Earl Flegel of Portland, Ore., and father-in-law of Carol Jean Flegel, dear grandfather of Cheryl and Michael Flegel, all of Portland, Ore.; loving brother of Earl C. and Dorothy Flegel, both of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Marjorie Jaeroux of Honolulu; Irving Flegel of Spokane, Wash.; Albert Flegel of

There is a constant flow of traffic on the river. Barges of lumber, coal, grain, etc. go back and forth. We passed the famous "Lorelei," immortalized in Heine's song. Here, according to legend, beautiful mermaids lured sailors, with song, to their doom on the rocks.

We left the river at Rudesheim and drove to Frankfurt. This city was 80 per cent destroyed and many relics of bombing still remain. However, much building is going on with the help of the U.S. Marshall Plan.

We skinned on to Heidelberg, located on the River Neckar. A beautiful spot where we imagined we could hear the linking of steins. Our hotel, over three hundred years old, was situated right on the river. Both in Holland and in Germany the hotels have huge feather beds for covering; no other blankets or quilts, very cozy, soft and warm. Heidelberg is overshadowed by the Schloss, or castle, high on the side hill.

The famous University of Heidelberg is many centuries old. While there, we visited the Jesuit Cathedral, part of the University. We left our hearts in Heidelberg, a very beautiful place.

(To be continued. In the next, and third instalment, Mrs. Olson will tell of beautiful scenes in Switzerland, eastern France, and the famous City of Paris.)

ONE HOUR "MARTINIZING"
the most in DRY CLEANING

WHAT IS "MARTINIZING"?

First of all . . . MARTINIZING uses Perchlorethylene, a scientifically developed solvent that is gentler, more effective, and . . . will not burn. So . . . MARTINIZING plants are located conveniently in your neighborhood. Instead of a truckload of cleaning, there's an arm load. Right away, the spots are easily removed before they become set from the heat during the drying process. And Martinizing machines are small and willing. They take a few garments at a time and process them in less than an hour.

MARTINIZING IS GENTLE BUT THOROUGH

The crystal-clear solvent removes every trace of dirt and grime, and, at the same time, revitalizes the fabric . . . restores the original soft fabric texture . . . brings out the rich, glowing color. The presser presses each garment one at a time. He takes a true craftsman's pride in his skill . . . devotes his full attention to each individual garment . . . gives it real hand care custom finishing.

See that you get "THE MOST IN DRY CLEANING".
